

tries resulted in E. L. Bruce Co. and Moro Hardwood, manufacturers of hardwood flooring. Another new firm, Brown Manufacturing Co., went into operation in Fordyce also in the fall of 1964, and in 1965 the Elrod Company, a wood treating firm, was established in Fordyce.

Another step of major importance and diversification resulted for the community when the Phelps Dodge Copper Products Corporation plant was opened for the manufacture of telephone wire and cable.

During this decade of industrial expansion other established firms were also in operation in Fordyce. News articles in recognition of the industries of the community as well as advertising messages will be found in this edition. We think you will find them both interesting and informative.

In addition to making Fordyce a more desirable community, the economic factor resulting from the industrial progress is vividly brought about by the fact that during the past decade employment has increased 21.2 percent, manufacturing payroll is up 68.6 percent and the total income of families has shown a gain of 80.4 percent. Thus the results of industrial and community development.

With this edition of the Fordyce News-Advocate, Volume 84, Number 20, we Salute our industries.

Veterans Day in Holley, N.Y.

EXTENSION OF REMARKS OF

HON. BARBER B. CONABLE, JR.

OF NEW YORK

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 21, 1967

Mr. CONABLE. Mr. Speaker, on the recent Veterans Day my colleague, Representative SAMUEL S. STRATTON, and I participated in the dedication of a veterans memorial monument at Holley, N.Y. The handsome granite monument, placed on the grounds of the American Legion, was dedicated in memory of all those from the communities of Holley, Clarendon, Fancher, and Hulberton in the towns of Murray and Clarendon who have sacrificed their lives in our defense of freedom in this century. These small communities in the eastern part of Orleans County on Lake Ontario have always contributed proudly to our Nation's fighting forces. Their sons have given their lives in all our wars, and in the present Vietnam fighting seven men from the area have died. Few communities of this size have given so much in support of our commitments in Vietnam.

Mr. Speaker, I include the program notes for the dedication ceremony as well as newspaper reports of the event which appeared in the Buffalo Evening News and the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle:

VETERANS MEMORIAL DEDICATION, VETERANS DAY, HOLLEY, N.Y.

This memorial is being dedicated in memory of those who made the supreme sacrifice to preserve the freedoms we so cherish. It is also being dedicated especially to those servicemen from the Holley central school district, consisting of the communities of Holley, Clarendon, Fancher, and Hulberton within the townships of Murray and Clarendon.

Like all communities of our great nation, we have sent forth our share of young men to serve in all national crises. They too have been gladdened with local men's successes and likewise shocked and saddened by the news of their friends, neighbors and loved ones who have been wounded or killed in action. These lives were sacrificed so that our great nation might continue and emerge victoriously from the crises of history.

Records are not available to list the war dead, however, this community lost many fine young men. The present Vietnam conflict with all the dreadful aspects of war, now in its fifth year of U.S. involvement, has seen many of our young men go forth to serve their country. This conflict has taken a heavy toll of seven men to this date from our community. The death of Lance Cpl. Ronald P. Sisson of Hulberton, N.Y., the second from our community to die in Vietnam, was the beginning of this Veterans Memorial which will be dedicated today.

A sum of seventy-six dollars was collected by the students and teachers of Holley Central school to be given to his family for their personal need. The money was not accepted because it was the wish of the family that it be used as a memorial to all those who also sacrificed their lives in time of service to their nation. The money was retained by the Student Council under the guidance of Mr. Howard DeBaun who then sought support to bring about some community action.

Commander Neil Hawley at a regular meeting of the Jewell Buckman Post 529, Holley, N.Y. in May 1967 appointed Cochairman Thomas Stazie and Bernard McAllister to organize a committee representing the community and determine what should be done and when. The service and civic organization of the communities were invited to join in a united effort to plan some type of memorial in honor of our gallant heroes. After exploring various ideas, a Barrie Granite Stone monument was selected to be placed on the American Legion property in Holley. This site was selected for the present and if future growth of our community presents a more desirable location, it may be moved with the approval of the participating organizations.

PARTICIPATING ORGANIZATIONS

Fancher, Hulberton, Murray Fire Dept., Holley Fire Dept., Holley Central School Teachers Association, Holley Central School Student Council, Holley Rotary Club, Holley Jaycees, Fancher Memorial Post, American Legion, Jewell Buckman Post 529, American Legion, Holley Village Board, Clarendon Town Board, Murray Town Board, Clarendon Fire Dept.

HOLLEY ERECTS MONUMENT TO DEAD OF FOUR WARS

HOLLEY, November 13.—This community with 7 dead in the Vietnam war, made a special observance of Veterans Day Saturday by dedicating a marble memorial on the lawn of the Post Office-American Legion Bldg. to the memory of all servicemen who made the supreme sacrifice in World War I, World War II, Korean and Vietnam.

Two Congressmen were on hand to help note the solemn occasion, one a former Holley resident. Congressman Samuel S. Stratton of the 36th District reminded his listeners he had lived at one time "only a stone's throw from this site." The other was Congressman Barber A. Conable Sr. of the 39th District.

Tom Decker, manager of news and public affairs gave the invocation and the Rev. William H. Diltz of First Presbyterian Church the benediction. Miss Frankie Carsell of Holley sang the National Anthem and God Bless America, accompanied by the Holley Central School Band.

The monument was unveiled by Commander Neil Hawley and Vice Commander Michael LeStorti of the Jewell Buckman Legion Post; Miss Winifred Burns, auxiliary vice president, and Miss Ola Burns, head of the Orleans Salon of 8 & 40.

Memorial wreaths were placed by Wendell

Borncamp, Frank Neldert, Charles Padaman and Frank DeFabbio.

Area youths who have given their lives in Vietnam include Army Pfc. Howard L. Bowen; Army Spec. 4 Gary Bullock, Marine Pfc. David D. Case.

HOLLEY HONORS HEROES

(By Merritt Landon)

HOLLEY.—"This Veterans Memorial is a symbol of sacrifice," declared Rep. Barber B. Conable, R-N.Y., in his dedicatory address at the Honney Veterans Day program yesterday morning, attended by hundreds of area citizens.

Asserting that Holley had contributed in fighting men's lives as much as any community in the nation, Rep. Conable said that the way to end all wars is to be prepared to resist all aggression, wherever it occurs.

"We have shown our determination in Iran, Greece, Berlin and Cuba and this country is still the last great hope of the world for peace. We have reason to believe that those who have sacrificed their lives will help avoid World War III. The monument has a lesson that teaches us to strive for that end."

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton of Amsterdam, D-N.Y., a native of Holley, on a nostalgic journey to the scenes of his youth, said that he had lived a stone's throw from this spot. He was regaled with hundreds of requests for autographs from schoolchildren, and adults sought his ear to review youthful episodes.

He told his former classmates and their assembled friends, "Perhaps what this great nation of ours needs more than anything else on this Veterans Day is more of the spirit of Holley to catch on in communities large and small from coast to coast."

"No community in our land has paid a higher price for our commitment in Vietnam."

The ceremonies were preceded by a military procession from the Holley Elementary School, led by color guard units from Holley, Medina, Albion and Rochester, veteran and service organizations, and the Holley Central School marching band.

Students: The Ministry of Fear

EXTENSION OF REMARKS OF

HON. WILLIAM G. BRAY

OF INDIANA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 21, 1967

Mr. BRAY. Mr. Speaker, there is absolutely nothing honest, moral, or praiseworthy in the actions and motives of those whose demonstrations have blocked industrial and Federal Government recruiting at college campuses across the country.

An editorial in the Indianapolis Star on November 19, 1967, accurately called this what it is: an attempt to exercise naked, dictatorial power and establish a ministry of fear.

The editorial follows:

STUDENTS: THE MINISTRY OF FEAR

It was a major victory, said Stewart Shaw, a senior law student from New York and student protest leader at Syracuse University, after the Central Intelligence Agency canceled campus interviews to avoid risking student demonstrations.
